

Information for writing your Master thesis with Prof. Debjani Bhattacharyya

Preconditions and Process

Attending one of my classes before deciding on your Master thesis topic is highly recommended. It is ideal if you have written a MA seminar paper with me. Exceptions are allowed, so best to set up an appointment.

If you are interested, please make an appointment to discuss your idea with me. 2 days before our first meeting you will email me a title and a short outline with a clearly defined research question, your historiographical and methodological approach and it should include some primary sources you plan to work with. Please add a short list of references. This document should be between 2-4 pages. Please provide each document with the following details: Name, address, student ID no. (Matrikelnummer), email address and phone number, major and minor subject. Once we discuss the topic and accept your Master thesis proposal, you must book the Master Thesis module (Masterarbeit) before the end of the normal booking period. After the booking period, you will receive a link to a database from Student Services of the Faculty of Arts (Studiendekanat). Please enter your name, provisional title, and Prof. Bhattacharyya as your supervisor into this database.

It is expected that within the next weeks of booking the module you will rework your initial proposal/outline, with a well-formulated research question, a deeper discussion of the theory and methods as well as a discussion of the historiographical intervention. This will form the basis of our meetings during office hours, and this will allow me to offer you helpful feedback. It is also expected that you will actively participate in the Master- und Doktoratskolloquium for a minimum of two semesters (incl. a presentation of your research project, sources, first findings, and writing samples). This colloquium must be booked once as Kolloquium Forschungsdesign and once as Masterkolloquium.

Scope of the thesis

Your thesis should be around 60-90 pages (150,000 to 225,000 characters) of text including footnotes (without bibliography) and include a signed Selbstständigkeitserklärung.

Submission

Please submit your thesis in digital format as a single pdf document (Lastname_Shorttitle_Date.pdf) to debjani.bhattacharyya[at]hist.uzh.ch

Deadlines
